Question 1
Staff turnover at White Sands, a major Queensland resort island, has been cut dramatically because of innovative personnel strategies. These strategies were introduced by Wendy Howard, Human Resource Manager. The Queensland Airlines Company operates White Sands which is located near the Great Barrier Reef. In May 2007, the Chief Executive Officer conducted a SWOT (strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats) analysis that resulted in the introduction of a decentralised management structure that encouraged greater staff participation.

Subsequently, Wendy conducted a training needs analysis that resulted in an induction program modelled on her observations of best practice companies. She also introduced a new training policy for existing staff. The new training policy encouraged multiskilling so staff could swap positions and transfer between departments. Wendy also introduced regular performance appraisals. She generated commitment and loyalty in her workforce by only recruiting people with long-term career aspirations at the resort.

a. Define these terms.
   i. Induction program

Select and discuss a motivational theory that Wendy Howard may have used in developing the strategies she used at White Sands. Indicate why the motivational theory you selected is relevant to the strategies implemented at White Sands.
Recent figures show that Meehan Electric Company is leading in productivity and quality compared with all other electricity providers. It has an excellent industrial relations record that has resulted from a significant change in its corporate culture.

Established 10 years ago by James Meehan, the business initially struggled to gain market share. There were feelings of mistrust between management and staff, and as a result productivity was low.

James decided to introduce enterprise bargaining to endeavour to become more productive and to improve the relationship between staff and management. He succeeded beyond his expectations and other electricity providers now benchmark their performance against his company.

a. Identify and explain one driving and one restraining force for change relevant to Meehan Electric Company’s introduction of enterprise bargaining.

i. driving

ii. restraining Introducing enterprise bargaining in this case was a response to internal pressures for change. Organisations also need to respond to external pressures.

b. Identify and explain two external pressures for change and discuss how they may cause Meehan Electric Company to change its management practices.

c. Identify and explain one management role that James Meehan may use when developing policies to improve productivity.
d. Distinguish between individual Australian Workplace Agreements (AWAs) and Collective/Certified Agreements.

Pacific Paint
Memorandum

Date: 29 August 2007

To: Jerome Jones (Operations Manager)

From: Magnus Larsen (CEO)

Topic: High wastage and inappropriate disposal of materials

Urgent Message:
It has come to my attention that your department has caused significant spillage of oil and paint over the past 6 months. Traces of this oil and paint have been found in the city’s waterways and the Water Board is considering prosecution.
The local community is threatening to boycott our products and encourage our international customers to do likewise.
I will come to see you on Monday at 10.00 am to hear how you will resolve this situation.

Jerome Jones has reviewed the operational procedures and determined that manual handling errors are to blame for the spillage of oil and paint. He believes that introducing new technology will eliminate this problem. This will lead to the redundancy of 15 staff.
Jerome has decided to adopt an autocratic management style.

a. i. Explain the characteristics of an autocratic management style.

TURN OVER
ii. Justify Jerome Jones’ use of an autocratic management style in this situation.
